

An interview with the distinguished winner

Zhou Ting

After the sports meeting, I interviewed Lin Fengfeng, the champion of 100meters race and 400 meters race.

(R stands for the reporter and L Lin.)

R: Nice to meet you.

L: Hi!

R: As we all know, you won the 400 meters race yesterday, and the gold medal of 100 meters race was put in your pocket today. In addition, you've broken the record just now. You really did a good job! Congratulations!

L: Thank you.

R: The trial match of 100 meters race yesterday impressed me deeply. At the sound of the gun, all the athletes began to run except you. What's the matter?

L: I was too careless, when I heard "ready", I thought "go" would follow it rather than the gunshot. I did not realize that the race had begun until I found the player beside me dashing forward.

R: I am sorry to hear that! Fortunately, you managed to catch up with others and finally ran into the final. It's not an easy thing.

L: Yeah, thank goodness!

L: Your performance was excellent: you were quick in action and passed the terminal line at the fastest speed, ranking in the first place. You showed us your real strength.

L: (Laughed) Yes, I accumulated all my energy and waited for the exciting moment. Luckily I made it.

R: What's your feeling now? Can you share it with us?

L: Well, I'd rather owe my success to my classmates; they showed great support for me and inspired me to summon up courage. Furthermore, they told funny stories to make me feel relaxed and comfortable.

R: That's why we usually say that success comes from the strength of team. Generally speaking, the victory not only belongs to you but also to your team.

L: Yes, of course. Besides, we should always keep it in mind that the result is not so important, what really matters is the enjoyable process.

R: My thoughts exactly! Thanks for accepting my interview. Hope to hear more exciting news from you in the future.

L: Thank you!
